

WE NOMINATE

William Alfred Eddy Jr., the University's Princeton-born Chaplain to Episcopal students, who in the weeks ahead will be rounding out eight years of conscientious service to Town and Gown, preparatory to "moving on" to Bloomington, Indiana, where on New Year's Day he will assume his new responsibilities as rector of Trinity Church and volunteer chaplain for Episcopalians on the Indiana University campus. Described by one observer as an "outstanding teacher with a remarkable gift for grasping maturing points of view," the 39-year old Eddy is the kind of thoughtful churchman whose presence and attitudes help relate the Christian message to the challenges of the 20th Century.

A member of the Princeton Class of 1942, with a high honors record in the Department of English, Eddy as a Princeton senior had decided he would study theology and eventually enter the ministry. Four years later, unshaken in his Christian convictions by rugged World War II experiences but leary of academic routine, he enrolled in New York City's General Seminary. He completed theological training with distinction, was ordained in Washington in 1949 by the Right Reverend Angus Dun and was happily ensconced as rector of Christ Church, La Plata, Maryland, when he unexpectedly "received the call" in 1952 to serve as Chaplain on Princeton's Procter Foundation.

Eddy, the son of a former president of Hobart College and a one-time Princeton faculty member, describes his Princeton years as "thoughtful ones during which I have had every opportunity to learn a great deal." They have also been extremely active years. In addition to "being on the campus as much as I could," Eddy has been vicar of St. Baranbas Mission (Sand Hills), has "helped out" at Trinity Church and has taught a required, and much-quoted, senior course at Miss Fine's School, "Introduction to Religion." He has "audited" courses in the Departments of Religion and Philosophy and has also devoted summers to working with the Navaho Indians in Arizona.

An avid reader, whose tastes range from philosophical works to historical novels and "whodunits," Eddy compiled a brilliant World War II combat record with the Marines culminated by the presentation of the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" on Iwo Jima. Indicative of the quality of his leadership is this extract from the citation for the Navy Cross: "Continually, during the assault, the men of his company were under heavy fire and pinned down. Captain Eddy repeatedly stood up, forward of his men, defying enemy fire and personally inspiring and leading his command against the objective."

Eddy, the father of five children (three girls, two sons) ranging in age four to 13, heads into the Middle West with an unusual understanding of the thoughts and aspirations of young Americans. Pointing out that the so-called "religious boom" of the years immediately following V-J Day has been diluted, he finds that there is a "genuine widespread and searching interest in religion." This deep interest, however, Eddy reports, cannot be translated into "outward religious enthusiasm" documented by statistics and attendance reports. It is, in his opinion, an inward matter, one in which the individual often needs assistance and seeks guidance.

For his record of quiet accomplishment; for his faith in the capacities of maturing young men and women; for looking to the years ahead as heightened opportunities for service to others; he is Town Topics' nominee for

BATTLE RAGES

In Nassau St. Store Window. Attracting the attention of an increasing number of passersby, a day-to-day contest is being waged on the town's main thoroughfare that is very probably unique in the annals of sport. A running chess game, in progress for more than a month, is being played in the window of a jewelry store. The store is La Vake-Reid's, 54 Nassau Street, and the players are the Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr., assistant pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, and Gray Sidwell, an editor at Educational Testing Service. The players are not on display, of course. They just stop in to study the board and decide on their move for the day.

Meanwhile, the board remains in a prominent spot in the corner of the window, with pieces which have been captured standing at one side. One of two alternating signs, "Black's Move" or "White's Move," is propped in front to keep passersby up to date on the action.

The spectators are taking a vital interest in the proceedings, too. There are regulars who stop by every day to see how things are coming along, and many others who enter the store to make comments on the game or to find out just what's happening.

Was Part of UCF Display. It all started last month during the Princeton United Community Fund campaign when the Rev. Mr. McAlpin, who is chairman of the Princeton Committee of the Mental Health Association, arranged a Mental Health display in La Vake-Reid's window. The exhibit showed various recreational activities helpful to the readjustment of former mental patients and included, among other things, a chess set.

The Rev. Mr. McAlpin brought the chessmen, a hand-carved Swiss set which he borrowed from a friend, and La Vake-Reid's, which has carried chessboards for about a year now, provided the board. Just to make the display a little more interesting, the Rev. Mr. McAlpin started playing a game with himself.

At this point Mrs. Sidwell, who works at La Vake-Reid's and is herself a chess buff, began to take an interest in the proceedings. "My husband is an enthusiastic chess player," she told the Rev. Mr. McAlpin. "Why don't I ask him to play with you?"

The two began the next day and the game has been going on ever since. The chessboard, the Mental Health display was taken down in a week. Each player has a replica of the game set up on a board in his home so he can pore over it before deciding on his next move. With each man making only one move a day, the game is expected to last another week at least.

Watch That Queen! In the meantime, public interest in the game has continued to grow. One day in the beginning the Rev. Mr. McAlpin, who is playing the black, brought out his queen and then had to retreat. Immediately an irate observer strode into the store, stating indignantly, "White has moved six times, but black has only made four!"

Another observer, thinking the arrangement was just set up at random, came in and told the store management, "That Knight shouldn't be up that far. If that were a real chess game, the Knight just wouldn't be there." As a matter of fact, explained the Rev. Mr. McAlpin, the Knight's venture into enemy territory turned out to be a most successful move.

An interesting sidelight to the game has been its effect on business at La Vake-Reid's. An average of three people a day stop in to ask if the chess set is for sale, and several of the vinyl tile chessboards have been sold already. With such evidence of public demand, the store has decided to stock chess sets as well as boards, and a group of imported handmade sets is due to arrive next week.

"Everybody going by stops to analyze the game instead of looking at the merchandise," said manager Samuel M. Kind. "We just have to have chess sets for sale, if only in self defense!"

A somewhat unusual town had found a new and somewhat unusual pastime. It was definitely an enjoyable addition to the passing scene.

HEARING SCHEDULED
On Community Gardens, Part I. There will be a public hearing before the Township Planning Board on Tuesday, November 23, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall on the plans drawn up for the seven-acre portion of Community Gardens that the Township School Board will use for its new 21-room school building.

The first broad plans sketched out for the Gardens include, besides land for the school, 26.47 acres for community use—that is, recreation—west of the school; another 15.06 acres for community use across State Road from Township Hall; and an area between the school and the present Township Hall for municipal administration, also community use in the form of expanded Township buildings. John Donal, school Board member on the Planning Board hopes to publish its final plans in full detail by mid-December.

Princeton University's plans for the new MacLean Circle section of the Gray Farm east of Harrison were tabled by the Planning Board. The Board told Alfred L. Test of the University's real estate office that it has no reason to change its requirements of a 30-foot pavement, curbs, sidewalks and a spur of Lake Drive linking MacLean with Longview. However, the Board has asked the University to submit an alternate solution to the MacLean problem so that the alternate and the tabled plans can both be considered.

In a brisk hearing Monday night, Mr. Test was joined in his protests by several residents of the Riverside-Longview-Lake area who also object to curbs, sidewalks and the extension of Lake. In addition, Ralph McDonald, chief engineer of Clarke and Rap-

IS LAKE NECESSARY? The question of extending Lake Drive to connect Longview and the projected MacLean Circle (arrow, lower right) drew heated comments Monday from Riverside area residents who believe that the connection, plus sidewalks and curbs on MacLean, would destroy the rural character of the neighborhood and increase traffic unduly. (Proposed streets indicated by dotted lines.) The Township Planning Board has asked the University to change the name of "MacLean" to avoid confusion with MacLean Street in the Borough, but the University has demurred, saying that it prefers to keep "McCosh" and "MacLean" together for "sentimental reasons."

puano, landscape engineers consulted frequently by Princeton firms (they are currently preparing the Community Gardens plan), told the Planning Board that his firm usually recommended a 22-24 foot pavement for developments the size of the MacLean Circle.

"Cost to the University is incidental," said Mr. Test, explaining his position against curbs, sidewalks and a 30-foot pavement. "We believe these requirements should be re-examined in the interests of the whole community."

Attorney Henry Stratton, also speaking for the University, said he thought it was "unreasonable" of the Planning Board to require the University to pave the strip of Lake Drive, which is outside University property.

Sidewalks? Mr. Test said he was not aware that sidewalks were required of anyone except the University, and Samuel Frothingham, chairman of the Planning Board, asked whether Mr. Test was aware of the recent sidewalk "master plan" prepared and published by the Township. Mr. Test said he did not know about this study, and Mr. Frothingham said, "I suggest you read it as homework."

William E. Reaser, 171 Longview Drive, said he felt that existing roads met all the requirements of residents of the Riverside area, and that another opening, such as the Lake Drive strip would provide, was no longer necessary.

"That extension of Lake Drive would be solely for the benefit of University property," commented H.W. Hoisington, Jr., 199 Longview.

The Planning Board takes the position that the Lake exit is needed to keep MacLean Circle's 44 lots from being bottled up in case of fire or other catastrophe.

Mrs. H. Richard Wilhelm, 591 Lake Drive, suggested that the road, if needed, be built on the space between McCosh and MacLean Circles which the University plans to use for garden and open space.

Mr. Stratton suggested that the Lake extension be blocked off from daily traffic by a chain which could be broken by any fire engine which had to enter the southern portion of MacLean.

In other business, the Planning Board announced the names of Township residents who will serve on a committee to study the problem of retaining open space in the municipality. James Sayen will serve as chairman. Committee members will be William Sloan, Mrs. J.V.A. Fine, Gerald Brees, Thomas P. Cook, Richard Frost, Lyle Finch, Stanley C. Smoyer and Mrs. Gordon Knox. Princeton Country Estates presented again a plan for approximately 100 lots in the area bounded by Herrontown Road, (south of Snowden Lane) and Shady Brook. This is a renewal of an old plan which lapsed in December and was tabled while the Planning Board and Princeton Country Estates came to an agreement on lots to be set aside for recreation.

eventuality of a deadlock, found it necessary to break a Council tie.

Firstly, Mayor Male (combining with Councilmen Lester, Sorenson and Colman in opposition to Councilmen Redding, Walker and Coyle) upheld an ordinance stripping all parking from the east side of Maple Street. With Robert Mangold and some 30 residents of Maple Street advocating the establishment of Maple Street as a one-way artery with parking on both sides, Mayor and Council on the same measure approved a searching re-study of the Borough's "loading Zones".

Secondly, the Mayor sided with Councilmen Redding and Walker

(opposing Councilmen Colman and Coyle, with Professors Lester and Sorenson abetting on the grounds of "conflict of interest") in denying Princeton University's application, unanimously approved by the Zoning Board, to erect a power substation in the proximity of the properties abutting the southern end of Charlton Street and tracts controlled by University eating clubs.

It was the feeling, in regard to the substation which is $150,000 in cost, that it is essential in the University's on-going development east of Washington Road, that the matter could be reviewed at a special meeting of Mayor and Council on November 23d, when it might be possible for land-owner William M. MacDonald, 52 Charlton Street, to appear in his own behalf.

Other developments of moment during the delayed November meeting of Mayor and Council: Residents of Bank Street, spearheaded by the T. H. McKinsey Family and R. T. Berthoff, effectively upset Council's plans for installing parking meters on Bank Street, described by one member of Council as "an anachronism." The resolution was tabled.

Plans for a new Vandeventer-Park Place parking yard were reviewed by Councilman Coyle, with somewhat acrimonious comments on the part of the Princeton's Greater Chamber of Commerce. The Committee on the Future of Princeton will report back to the Council on November 23d.

The two successful applicants among 24 candidates for positions as chancemen in the Borough's Police Department, John J. Below Jr. and Donald Forward, were recognized. Both men will join the Department in accordance with schedules worked out by Chief Raymond Mondone.

On November 30th the Borough and Township governments will meet jointly to ponder such questions as the 206 A traffic bypass, the joint library and other matters of mutual concern. The idea for such a session originated with Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman.

The Borough unanimously endorsed, with one member sustaining, the appointment of Mrs. Donald C. Stuart, 34 Mercer Street, to the Marquand Park Advisory Council.

Next Tuesday evening's special meeting of Mayor and Council will be preceded by a hearing of an alleged ABC violation involving a minor.

MADWOMEN, ALL: Four other-worldly ladies, as far as one could possibly imagine from the sweater-and-skirted student at Miss Fine's, appeared on the school's stage last weekend to present a colorful and spirited performance of "The Madwoman of Chailiot." Left to right, Cynthia Weinrich, who played the leading role; Sandra Sidford, Elise Brumli and Carol Armstrong. (Staff Photo.)

News Of The THEATRES

"EARNEST" DELIGHTFUL
Eduard APA Comedy Series. The final offering of the Association of Producing Artists proved a fitting climax to a successful season. Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" was presented with all the wit and urbanity associated with the playwright; the cast of nine was superb and the production was light and graceful under the able direction of Allen Fletcher.

The guest performers, Cathleen Nesbitt and Frances Sternhagen, did particularly well as Lady Bracknell and Miss Fairfax. Miss Nesbitt was full of verve as she calculated her daughter's marriage chances down to the last pound, and her smile was more a baring of fangs than a cordiality.

With straightforward deviousness, Miss Sternhagen played her role beautifully, and gained hearty approval from the McCarter audience. Ann Roth showed her costuming talents again with these two ladies, both eye-catching in late Victorian garb.

Raab Excellent. As the laundress Algeron Moncrieff, who goes "Bunburying" and gains a fiancée, Ellis Raab gave a perfect characterization. He outplayed Richard Easton, the admirable John (Earnest) Worthing, for both the cucumber sandwiches and the muffins with great aplomb. (The McCarter staff thoughtfully provided some delicious samples of the former during the first intermission.)

Mr. Easton presented a very good appearance, wood Miss Sternhagen with vigor and was especially appealing in the recitation of his origin to Miss Nesbitt. He played just the right foil to Mr. Raab's cynicism.

Rosemary Harris, as the young ward, Cecily Cardew, gave her role the proper wide-eyed dewiness. Her voice suited the wistfulness of the adolescent perfectly, and her enthusiasms and inconsistencies were portrayed unselfconsciously.

Lesser Roles Well Taken. Joanna Ross played Miss Prism, the governess, with attention to the last detail of the fussy character. The accent and mannerisms fitted the conception marvelously, and were never relaxed. Her pursuit of Donald Moffatt, a joy to behold as the black-lad country regent, was particularly engaging.

Mr. Moffatt's portrayal of the canon came up to the high standards of his previous characterizations. "He must be very smart because he's never written a book," says young Cecily Cardew. His classical and Biblical quotations must have given the young lady the impression. His sympathetic vagueness was delightful.

Keene Curtis settled down from the previous week's a robotics to the portrayal of a British man-servant with aplomb, and Tucker Asworth as the snu-moing country butler was positively electrifying.

From the last week in September to its final presentation Saturday night, APA gave McCarter audiences a variety of plays around the theme "Comedy in Theatre." In offering an imaginative series, on the whole well staged and well acted, the group found an audience, and a responsive one.

After such an initial success, it is to be devoutly hoped the Association will return to McCarter in the very near future. The group filled a long and serious void in Princeton's theatre-going this fall.

"MADWOMAN" SPARKLING

To Miss Fine's Production. "The Madwoman of Chailiot," one of Jean Giraudoux's most enchanting fables, was given a light and sparkling production last week by the Dramatic Club of Miss Fine's School. The direction by A. Munroe Wade was crisp and fast-moving, and the talented young cast managed to bring out all the ironic humor of the play while adding an aura of charm peculiarly their own.

Cynthia Weinrich portrayed Countess Aurelia, "The Madwoman of Chailiot," with zest and conviction. Equally appealing were Sandy Sidford, Elise Brumli and Cary Armstrong as the three other "madwomen," and the scene in which they platoon to lure wicked opportunists into the bottomless cellar was a real delight.

Other outstanding members of the large cast included Tucky Ramus as the idealistic Irma, Lee Caldwell as the vocal and vegetable Ragpicker, David McLean as Pierre, and Bruce D. MacKenzie in the dual roles of the Sergeant and the Sewer-man. —Continued on Page 6

"JEW OF MALTA" TO OPEN
Thursday at Murray Theatre. Christopher Marlowe's "The Jew of Malta," man foil production of the Theatre Intime, will open this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus. Other performances are scheduled for this Friday and Saturday and next Monday and Tuesday, all at 8:30.

A tragic drama portraying a Jew's search for identity in a hostile society, "The Jew of Malta" is a forerunner of Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice." Ralph Emmerian will play Barabas, the Jew of the title. Others in the cast are Frances Keene, Betty Fussell, Bill Harmon and Tom Dillingham. Director is H. Montgomery Davis, who reports that original and dynamic techniques are being used in the production. Tickets are on sale at the University Store or may be reserved by calling the Murray Theatre box office, Walnut 4-3539.

NO MORE MAIL ORDERS

For Marceau. McCarter Theatre has announced that ticket orders for the forthcoming appearance of Marcel Marceau will be taken by telephone only. No mail orders will be accepted from now on. There are still orchestra seats at $4.50 and $5.50 which may be reserved by calling the box-office at WA 1-8700.

The French pantomimist, who will appear the evening of December 12, will give a matinee at 3:30 p.m. on the same day for students and a limited number of adults. Any student in the area will be admitted for $1 to the balcony, and $1.50 to the orchestra. Adult admission will be $1.50 in the balcony and $2.50 in the orchestra. These orders should be placed immediately by calling WA 1-8700.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED
For Children's Entertainments. The Children's Entertainments will open in McCarter this season, with a performance of "The Emperor's New Clothes" on January 17. The series, which will include performances in February, March and April, is sponsored by the Princeton Borough Parent-Teacher Association.

"The Emperor" will be performed by the Traveling Playhouse, a group which has presented several entertainments for the P.T.A. Their version of the well-known play is suitable for children up to the eighth grade.

Not available after the first performance, season tickets can be purchased now from Mrs. R. H. Farmer of 175 Hamilton Avenue and are priced at $5.50. —Continued on Page 8

IT'S NEW To Us

LOOK WHO'S WATCHING YOU
A People Watcher. The "People Watchers" that the Allen Flower shop keeps talking about are, of course, stuffed birds. Of a feather. They flock, not together, but individually in the arrangements prepared with such skill by Don and Shirley Allen, owners of the Hopewell flower shop.

This fall, the birds appear in charming little lamps designed as TV lamps, or possibly as night-lights in guest or child's room. Each lamp stands about a foot high with a small burlap shade whose color is the predominant color in the arrangement beneath it. Golden yellow, possibly, or neutral sand.

The lamp base is an arrangement of dried grasses, cat-tails and berries, artfully arranged so that the taller components mask the shaft that holds the wiring. Some lamps have birds, like the one that poses a ring-neck pheasant against the flora that he might eat in the wild.

Some have endearing little squirrels in a bower of nuts and branches. Each lamp is different, but all are $12.50.

The arrangements without the lamp are designed either "in the round" for a table centerpiece, or with a front and back, for a position against a wall. To make them, the Allens use such materials as pepperglass, bitter-sweet, tornielo pod and "fern seed."

They combine, in a minute construction which grows out of a four-inch-wide bowl, melaleuca, millet and sal thistle, making a delightful piece for a very smart Thanksgiving table set in a very small dinette. No bird in this one, by the way.

Artificial Cynidium orchids and artificial Oriental pine have been used in an arrangement, more exotic than most, built out an Egyptian copper bowl. In another, brown clay statue of St. Francis stands in a small bower of artificial Oriental pine.

Most of the studies are done with real, natural materials whose soft mutings of brown, sand, beige and copper make them splendid accessories for Thanksgiving. And while you're examining the arrangements, be sure to look at the arrogant little turkey, four inches high, each feather as authentic as cranberry sauce.

Artificial things look more than real these days. Allen's has a bin of artificial fruit in glass or plastic that will make you reach for the apple corer.

There are pineapple, plantains, crab-apples, among others, and some of the plumpest nuts we've ever seen. Frosted green, Tokay or malaga grapes at $1 a bunch have been strung along the rafters of the flower shop to make a delightful arbor.

Artificial African violets come in white, pink, blue or purple ($2 a bunch) and they are so life-like that you can't pick them out of the shelves of real violets. Non-and-chickens come fake, too, adding their sage green to the scene.

Perhaps the prize in the artificial catalogue goes to a fertile little orange tree set in a square redwood tub. Its fruit and leaves have been made with such meticulous detail that the price tag is $37.50. That's quite a harvest.

Della Robbia fruit for a Thanksgiving table, has been curved into

Or Bring Your Own

The dried arrangements made by Mr. and Mrs. Allen for their flower-shop customers are usually constructed on a natural root base or formed in an attractive container which blends with the colors of the grasses and berries.

However, the Hopewell shop also has many empty containers which you may prefer for your own arrangement. For example, there are small alabaster bowls, tall cylinders of bamboo (some double, like pipes of Pan), and Grecian bowls in black, russet and white.

If you have a favorite bowl or vase of your own, you may take it to Allen's and ask for a custom arrangement to enhance your particular piece.

a wreath about 15 inches in diameter with a center just large enough for a thick candle. These fruits are small, laced with artificial Oriental pine which softens the outlines.

Let the casual visitor think that Allen's specializes in artificiality, the shop presents a kind of Thanksgiving special—pom-pom Continued on Page 9

THE PLAYHOUSE

Sunrise at Campobello (November 16-22) is Dore Schary's moving and tender tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt. Schary wrote the screenplay from his Broadway show of the same name, and was the producer. Ralph Bellamy appears as FDR, Greer Garson as Eleanor, and Hume Cronyn portrays Louis Howe with a nice blend of hard-headedness and affection.

The story is limited to the years from 1921 to 1924, so those who found the later behavior of Roosevelt less than entirely laudable may be excused if they applaud.
 It begins when Roosevelt is stricken with infantile paralysis while on a family sailing expedition off the island of Campobello, and concludes with his faltering steps toward the lecture as he accepts the Democratic nomination for governor of New York. A lot of it is overlaid but the emotional impact is genuine. The film is in Technicolor, there are striking shots of Campobello and Hyde Park. Recommended.

Midnight Lace (November 23-29) is a tense, diverting little mystery that shows the influence of some of Alfred Hitchcock's less satirical recent roles. The people involved are improbably attractive (Rex Harrison and Doris Day), the setting is adequately exotic (the fog-bound streets and palatial apartments of London), and the clothes are pretty (according to our count, Miss Day manages 17 costume changes).
 Furthermore, the screenplay, insignificant and gimmicky as it is, and the direction by David Miller are frequently hair-raising.
 Miss Day is the lovely wife of a successful London businessman (Harrison), and she begins receiving mysterious threats to her life. The atmosphere grows creeper as the threats continue arriving at studied intervals, and in increasingly portentous circumstances. Finally Scotland Yard solves the mystery, as a Miss Day is left alive to face her practiced Pollyanna smile another day. So much for the plot. Harrison performs with his usual suave assurance, which is to say that he does his job with enviable skill.

THE GARDEN

School for Scoundrels (November 15-19), subtitled "How to Win Without Actually Cheating," is based on Stephen Potter's curiously funny series of books:
 "Gamesmanship," "Lifemanship,"
 "One-up-manship," etc., but it never quite succeeds. Perhaps this is because there is only the barest of plots (no more than an ephemeral vehicle for a string of incidents), or it may be that the basic idea is neither funny nor substantial enough to hold together a full length film.

The acting is done by the experimented and immensely capable Boultong Brothers house company: Terry-Thomas, Alastair Sim, Ian Carmichael (our favorite) and Janette Scott. The story concerns Carmichael, a rich but bumbling young executive who attends Potter's College of Lifemanship to learn how to be one up on his adversaries. When the methods are used innocuously (buying a heaving jalepy and convincing a sports-car-luff rival that it's the best car in the world, or showing up for a tennis game in street clothes to confuse the opponent) the film is likable, if not over-poweringly witty, when Potter's methods are turned toward the pursuit of Miss Scott, however, it becomes hoarsely unpleasant and adolescent. The truest comic touch in the whole picture has nothing to do with the theme, but is found in a delightful bit of business with the musical score at the very end.

Foat (November 21). The Gounod opera, this week's offering in the Garden's Monday Grand Opera Festival Series, is sung in Italian by Italo Tajo, Nelly Morandi and Gino Marzari, among others.

The Battle of the Sexes (November 22-28) is another funny Peter Sellers vehicle. Others in the cast are Robert Morley and Constance Cummings. Miss Cummings is the efficiency expert for a London firm. She is sent off to Scotland by her bosses, who find her efficiency unbearable and want to get her out of their hair. In Scotland, she runs into Morley, who has just inherited the directorship of a Scottish woollen mill. Smilingly, he hires her to bring modern methods to the old factory.

She goes about his job with a single-minded determination that will bring smiles to the lips of men who have had the unique and valuable experience of toiling for a woman boss. One of her semi-masculine toilers is Sellers, the meek head of the mill's accounting department. Outraged by her new methods, which are in the process of overturning the comfortable apathy which has carefully been built up by generations of plant workers, Sellers first tries to sabotage her machines and then begins plotting her murder melodramatically.

The film has its moments, most of them provided by Sellers. If for no other reason, it should be patronized just because it is one of the few morsels of satire the movie-makers condescend to toss to us hoobs these days. Recommended.

BY HAND, ONE OF A KIND

Ceramics for Show and Sale. The ceramic sculptures of Tania Eybye of Princeton are on display now and through November 26 at the Home Furnishing Shop, 41 Witherspoon.

In her work, Mrs. Eybye blends form, texture, design and color into pieces that can best be described as "right." When she makes a bulbous, short-necked vase in dark brown and incorporates into regular vertical stripes that increase or decrease in thickness as the vase swells or diminishes, she has achieved a quiet success in aesthetics.

She has for sale many vases, bowls, dishes and decanters with the same successful blending of form and design. For example, a 10-inch square ash-tray restricts within its sides four playful horses whose outlines are natural, sprightly and perfectly contained within the square.

Shades of deep plum and brown have been used in this piece. Home Furnishings has arranged fabrics around the ceramic pieces to show how the decorative and ceramic arts can be combined to make a harmonious room, and the earth shades of the ash-tray have been picked up almost exactly in certain textured fabrics the shop has on hand.

Mrs Eybye often uses an engobe finish to give added interest to her work. Engobe is not a glaze, but a colored clay baked on after the firing, and it has been employed with particular effect in a wall plaque of Madonna and Child, in which grey-blues, browns and tans predominate and in a large vase whose dark brown surface is pocked to make a pleasing contrast to the shining glaze of a pattern of circles. Madonna and Child within a free form, posing the child with outstretched arms which are echoed in the simple cross above the Madonna's shoulder. For another wall plaque, Mrs. Eybye has imagined Adam and Eve as an Egyptian artist might have imagined them. Her snake twines, outside the garden, on the frame of the plaque.

One of the liveliest and most appealing articles in the collection is a wide bow, green scap- ped on the outside and decorated on the inside with two magnificent insects, posed head to tail, and a brace of small fish and animals in squares. Here again, the earth tones of clay predominate, although the general effect is one of liveliness and color.

Shoppers with an eye on price—the range is $10 to $300—will like the little bottle about five inches tall in modest charcoal grey with a touch of light on its brief neck. Those who prefer sculpture to the more utilitarian pieces will enjoy a splendid statuette about 20 inches long with a narrow, obviously thoroughbred face and magnificent franks out- lined with swirling circles of light against darker skin. Home Furnishings has him against a wall-hanging of real lamb skin, as black as the stallion's flashing eye.

Another outstanding example of skill is the chess set made without molds and fired with a high glaze. Each figure is modelled with the utmost detail in feature and bronzes, and the colors have been fired so carefully that some portions of a figure are deliberately cracked, others smooth. The board has cracked, bronze squares and smooth black ones.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

MAN FINED FOR LARCENY

In Borough Court, Alfred Collins, 21, of 6 Princeton Avenue, Trenton, a domestic at the Charter Club, was fined $25 for petty larceny by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. The defendant admitted stealing $7 from the employee's cloakroom of the Kay and Seal Club on Prospect Street. The money was returned to its owner, Hubert Smith, by the police.

In a traffic case, Arthur Rittmaster Jr., 39, of Galbreath Drive, was fined $15 for driving an unregistered vehicle. He pleaded guilty.

FORMER RESIDENT NAMED

By Kennedy, Andrew P. Hatcher, 37, a former Princeton resident and a graduate of Princeton

High School, has been named as associate press secretary by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Now living in San Francisco, Mr. Hatcher was appointed assistant labor commissioner of California by Gov. Edmund Brown in 1958. Last June, the governor gave Mr. Hatcher a leave of absence to work for Mr. Kennedy as assistant press secretary.

At Princeton High School, the new appointee was editor-in-chief of the school newspaper, "The Tower," and played halfback on the school football team and starred in basketball.

Mr. Hatcher's father, a former waiter at the Nassau Tavern, still lives in Princeton as does his cousin, Henry Hatcher, a general contractor.

Will Study Proposed By-Pass. The Princeton League of Women Voters will discuss the proposed Route 206A bypass next Monday, at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bernard Barenholtz, 444 Rosedale Road.

Last spring, the League considered Princeton's traffic problems as part of its study of the Township Master Plan. Several routes were proposed for diverting traffic away from the center of Princeton. If members agree Monday to support the bypass, the League's stand will be brought to the attention of state authorities.

The Season Is Open

Since the hunting season opened on Saturday, four hunters—or innocent bystanders—have been wounded and are now in Princeton Hospital. Three of the accidents occurred the first day of the season.

On Saturday, at 9:30 a.m., Anthony Materese, 46, Alexander Road, was struck in the eye by shot from a 12-gauge shotgun while hunting in the Brookstone area. In other Saturday accidents, Vincent Ross, 58, 12 Peham Street, received a shotgun wound in the neck from a hunter near Lake Carnegie and an eight-year-old Trenton boy visiting in Hightstown was hit by buckshot intended for a rabbit. The boy is now in Princeton Hospital with a perforated left lung.

On Tuesday, a resident of Belmar was struck in the left calf by buckshot while hunting near Hopewell. He required emergency surgery at Princeton Hospital.

Mrs. Richard D. Challenger, membership chairman, has announced that the deadline for applications for the January reception of new members is December 1.

TEACHERS ARE GUESTS

At Township Banquet. Members of the teaching and administrative staffs of the Township schools were guests of the Board of Education Tuesday night at the Board's fifth annual banquet for the staff. The affair was held at Littlebrook School.

Peter Putnam spoke on "The Search for Meaning," following a welcome to the staff members by Mrs. Jess Epstein, president of the Board of Education. William L. Wilson and John E. Dobbin, who retired from the Board this year, were commended for their service by Dr. William D.

Perrell, superintendent of schools.

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS MEET
In Nassau Inn Convention, "If hospitals and other health agencies fall to work and plan together and if they refuse to exert control over themselves, the government will step in and take over." This was the warning issued by Raymond P. Sloan, associate professor of administrative medicine and vice-president of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, speaking Wednesday before a gathering of directors of volunteer service in hospitals held at the Nassau Inn.

Associations of Directors of Volunteer Service in Hospitals from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, representing 83 institutions, attended the institute. Earl Zimay, chairman of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute, was one of the speakers.

In his keynote address, Mr. Sloan suggested that hospitals concentrate more upon the patient's emotional state. He asked also that hospitals set up long-term planning teams comprising trustees, administrators, doctors and nurses, health agencies and representatives of the public.

DRESSINGS NEEDED

For Cancer Group. Old sheets, pillow cases, towels and other white materials are needed by a group of women who gather one evening each week to make dressings for cancer patients out of worn white goods.

Anyone who has such material may leave it at the Second Presbyterian Church, Chambers Street entrance, or call WA 1-9486 for a messenger to pick up the package.

DIMES DRIVE PLANNED

Chairman. Appointed, Mrs. Stanley Voorhees of Skillman and Miss Grace Gurisic of Rocky Hill have been appointed municipal chairmen for the National Foundation's annual March of Dimes campaign.

Mrs. Martin S. Kissel, Somerset County chairman, has announced that the March of Dimes will be conducted throughout the month of January and will be climaxed by a country-wide, door-to-door Mothers' March on January 31.

Approximately 260 teenagers, representing each of New Jersey's 21 counties, will meet in Princeton on Friday, November 25, to map their part in the March of Dimes effort. The all-day training session will be held at Princeton Inn and will be attended by members of the Foundation's Teen-Age Program.

Police Warning Issued

Borough Chief of Police Raymond A. Mondone has warned that unless residents start wrapping their garbage properly and begin putting it in the correct type of receptacle, he will order his department to issue summonses to violators. He said that he was sure the fine would be more than the cost of a proper container.

The police chief pointed out that there is a Borough ordinance stating that wet garbage must be adequately drained, wrapped in paper or other combustible material and placed in a water-tight, dog-proof receptacle. Too many people, he said, on Witherspoon and other nearby streets are ignoring the ordinance by putting their garbage in paper bags and cardboard boxes. He said he intends to form a special detail of officers whose duty will be to enforce the garbage ordinance.

Some streets here "look like scenes out of Tobacco Road," said Mondone. Dogs find it easy to break into cardboard boxes and strew the contents about. Wet weather also results in easily-spilt bags, adding to the unsightliness, Chief Mondone said in enlisting the cooperation of Princetonians.

SCOUTS SURVIVE
Weekend in Wilderness. Twenty-four members of Boy Scout Troop 50 spent last weekend at their campsite on Stony Brook as part of a "Surviva, Campout" exercise.

Senior Patrol Leader John Bailey and Scoutmaster Richard Sly had charge of the program. A Saturday evening troop campfire was highlighted by the investiture of three new Tenderfoot scouts — Peter Starbuck, Stan Spencer and Robert Spears.

Scouts carried all their clothing, food and equipment for the three-day expedition. Sub-freezing temperatures were reported to have made the weekend a true test of ability to survive in the wilderness. Troop 50 is sponsored by Trinity Church.

A BRAKE LIGHT COSTS EXTRA: A speedometer, hand windshield wiper and brake lights were among the "accessory" items which cost extra on this 1922 Model T Ford Coupe, according to its owner, Don Wiles of 62 1879 Hall. college in its home town of Indianapolis, Ind. Seven years ago, that promise was fulfilled and Don has been driving his Model T ever since. "In all that time, it's never let me down," he reports.

This fall, Don drive the car to Princeton from Indiana in three days. Following U.S. 40 through Maryland, he averaged 22 miles, an hour including stops. Cruising speed on the open highway, Don reported, was a sprightly 35.

Surprisingly enough, a self starter was standard equipment on the car, as were cut glass

Fund Reaches 85%

The Princeton United Community Fund campaign has reached 85 per cent of its quota, having raised a total of $200,068 to date. The goal is $234,000.

(Campaign totals by divisions are: research, $45,517; business, $36,882; special gifts, $83,946; university, $17,244; and neighborhood, $16,466.)

vases on either window post. The 30 x 3 1/2 tires, double today's 15 and 14-inch tires, are inflated to a rock hard, 55 pounds of pressure.

Accessories, all of which Don has, include side window shades, a hand windshield wiper, a speedometer, a control to regulate the mixture of the gasoline and — a brake light. The gas gauge is any handy nearby stick.

Don plans to use his car to take children who are celebrating birthdays for rides or couples who may be celebrating an anniversary and would like to be driven around town in a car of the era in which they were married. Permission to bring the car to the University was no problem. Seems that Assistant Dean of Students James Laughlin has a Model T station wagon of his own.

PRESIDENTIAL ADVISORS: Given a chance to offer suggestions to President-elect Kennedy, Donald Briggs (left) would urge him to meet with Khrushchev... so we can have peace... Look after our veterans and the aged would be the suggestion of Legionnaire Ozell Simpson. For additional advice to the next President, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: If you had a chance to talk to president-elect Kennedy what suggestions would you make to him?
Where asked: Around town.

Donald Briggs, 7 Greenview Avenue, painter: I would urge him to try to get together with Khrushchev as soon as possible and get something settled so we could have peace in the world.

Orell Simpson, 31 Green Street, FBI employee: I would suggest that he provide a pension for veterans. Some states have it and some don't. I feel since we all fought in the war, that every veteran is entitled to it. That is the first thing I would take up with him. I also hope he is able to pass his medical care for the aged plan which he said he would. I think this is a very fine thing.

Mrs. Earl Robinson, Blawenburg - Hopewell Road, Hopewell, housewife: I'd ask him to revise his fiscal policy and be a little more cautious about spending.

Mark M. Jones, 150 Library Place, consultant: I would suggest to him to consider the fact that he was elected by a majority of less than 1/2 of 1 percent — and that's pretty weak alcohol.

Miss Mary F. Johnson, Lake Drive station, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.: In our check and balance system upon which our government is based, I think he would need someone to temper his great enthusiasm. My suggestion would be to appoint Richard M. Nixon Secretary of State.

John T. Valdes, 586 Princeton-Kingston Road, owner of radio station: I would suggest he plan his economic policies not according to the academic theories of Galbraith but rather based on practical considerations of the free enterprise system and the personal profit motive which makes the American democracy work.

Mrs. Nellie Curuso, 155 Linden Lane, housewife: Raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour. When you have a family, you can't get by on just $3 an hour.

Roger Yard, 12 Laurel Road, owner of the Rug Mart: I would first congratulate Mr. Kennedy on his victory. I would then suggest that he become more conscious of his committal meeting obligations than he has been in the past. The well-being of the entire world rests in his hands and I sincerely hope his capable hands.

Mrs. Jean Edgerton, Blawenburg, housewife: I'd tell him to tone down a little on his appeasement policy with Khrushchev.

chev, I hope he doesn't go through with the way he started by saying he would apologize to Khrushchev. I would suggest he deliberate a little before he starts spending in a wholesale manner. I'm afraid he'll force taxes to go up, and we're paying enough now.

Mario Trani, 247 Valley Road, bricklayer: I would suggest he lower the retirement age for Social Security payments to at least 60, and I hope he will follow through on some of his campaign promises that he made, such as medical care for the aged.

Mrs. Robert M. Lamborn, Rosedale Road, housewife: I'd suggest he resign.

Pierre Ullman, 69 W. Broad Street, Hopewell, graduate student: I would ask him to reject Puerto Rican statehood if it were proposed.

Mrs. Ellis Withard, 46 Murray Place, housewife: I would tell him to be very careful to make sure that separation of church and state is really what he stands for. I am afraid he is going to run into trouble here. And please not to put Adlai Stevenson in as Secretary of State.

John L. Chish, 181 Laurel Road, retired, University: Try to be president of the whole country.

Mrs. Helen J. Harding, 197 Moore Street, head of Princeton Brailists: Keep the dollar stable, not inflation. I am afraid of his idea of government spending.

Joseph Sandella, Easton Avenue, New Brunswick, physician: My main suggestion would be a idea that he shape his campaign promises into a realistic, practical guide for American policy at home and abroad. Some of his policies have been aimed at the moon.

Mrs. Louis Paulino, 120 Linden Lane, housewife: What would I suggest? I've got a sor, keep the peace.

Benjamin Shimbreg, 26 Cuyler Road, psychologist for ETS: I'd advise him to search hard among the best minds in our nation for creative solutions to the many difficult problems we face. Above all, I would urge him to demonstrate strong, positive leadership, not only with respect to the Congress but for the people as a whole. For example, I believe that much can be done in the area of civil rights if a president willing to face the issue squarely. There's real opportunity here for moral leadership.

Mrs. Henry Schmidt, 92 Linden Lane, housewife: I'd suggest that he keep his promises and if he does that, he'll be doing a very good job. I would also ask him to try to preserve peace and justice in the world.

Norman Cohen, Graduate School, aeronautical engineer: I'd like to see him to all the things he said he would do without acting into the debt Nixon said he'd get into.

DONATIONS SOUGHT

By Planned Parenthood. An appeal for additional donations was issued this week by the Planned Parenthood Committee of Princeton. With only about six weeks left in its annual campaign, the committee is nearly $3,000 short of the $8,000 needed to finance its work for the coming year.

Main activity of the committee this year has been taking birth control and infertility information to migrant worker families within a 10-mile radius of Princeton. In addition, the committee has conducted a successful "Education for Marriage" course in conjunction with the Princeton YWCA and has offered the services of a marriage counselor through its office at 180 Nassau Street, where it also maintains a clinic.

Mrs. John Davies is chairman of the Planned Parenthood Board and Mrs. Alfred Test is campaign chairman. Dr. David J. Rose heads the Medical Advisory Committee.

Money from the fund will be used to endow faculty salaries, increase scholarship aid, and construct new buildings. Co-chairmen are Edmund N. Carpenter 2nd of Wilmington, Del., and Karl W. Corby of Washington, D. C.

cit at the English Speaking Union meeting in the Social Science Lounge of Firestone Library. The title of her presentation, which will begin at 8:30 p.m., is "Famous Heroines—Their Glory and Glamour."

THAT THE BLIND MAY LEARN
Funds, Volunteers Sought. So far this year, the Princeton unit of Recording for the Blind has made 13,350 records of 36 books ranging in content from the philosophy of Plato and the mathematics of Einstein to schoolbooks for children. Recording for the Blind is now seeking financial support to meet its budget of $12,000 which covers the cost of buying and maintaining recording machines, buying magnetic tapes, making recordings and running the unit's office. The organization is not eligible for United Fund aid because it is not a health or welfare agency.

Most of the books taxed by Recording for the Blind are textbooks used by university students; however, part of the work covers special books needed by elementary and high-school children. Whatever the need, the right "reader" is found. Recently a professional pianist living in Princeton played the musical examples incorporated into a text on music.

Volunteers are needed not only to read texts, but to edit the final readings, prepare textbooks and label the records in Braille. Each record is put into a special folder labelled in Braille so that blind students can tell what page and part of a book is at hand.

Those who wish to support Recording for the Blind may send checks to the organization's offices at 200 Stockton Street, Princeton.

BUS ROUTE APPROVED
For Borough Shopping Center. A new three-bus route which will operate between Pennington, the Princeton Shopping Center and Lambertville has been approved by the Public Utility Commission. Buses will begin to run about December 1, according to the Hope Valley Charter Bus Service, Inc., owners of the scheduled service, and schedules will be placed in stores throughout the area.

Report from THE MAYOR

A Special Meeting, Mayor and Council will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in Borough Hall. Originally scheduled merely to handle the matter of an alleged alcoholic beverage violation, the agenda has been expanded as a result of discussions at last Thursday's regular session that lasted nearly four hours.

At the special meeting, Council hopes to have before it a report of the Committee on the Future of Princeton with respect to proposed off-street parking between Park Place and Nassau Street. The committee has been working with a special parking committee of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council. Council members also have for their consideration a report of the engineering department on costs of acquisition, construction and operation of existing Borough off-street parking facilities along with estimates of the costs of the new proposals.

Other Business. At the suggestion of Councilman Coyle, a proposed ordinance limiting the tonnage of trucks on Washington Road was not introduced last week with an eye to discussing its purpose and effect with neighboring municipalities before proceeding with formal action.

It may be that the ordinance will be introduced on the 22nd if the five neighboring mayors can be contacted in the interim. Council will also handle such other business as may come before it, and the public will, of course, be offered an opportunity to express their views or to ask questions on any subject.

In Atlantic City. Many Borough officials and staff will take part in the annual three-day meetings of the New Jersey League of Municipalities in Atlantic City this week.

Each year these sessions have proved increasingly popular and productive as a source of exchanging helpful ideas and experiences. Princeton's mayor will preside at a panel session in which a group of mayors of smaller municipalities will attempt to answer questions from the floor on a wide variety of problems affecting towns of our size in New Jersey.

Remembered. Friday was a solemn day of remembrance. In Princeton, the annual Veterans' Day observance was highlighted by two special events: the brief but impressive ceremonies at the War Memorial sponsored by Post 76 of the American Legion, and the dedication at Morven of a memorial in former Governor Walter Evans Edge who capped a lifetime of service to New Jersey by providing this historic site as a permanent public treasure and residence for New Jersey governors.

Decision. On November 8, Borough voters concurred in the establishment with the Township of a Joint Public Library. They also selected Dr. Ellwood Godfrey and Mr. Albert Austen to serve on Borough Council.

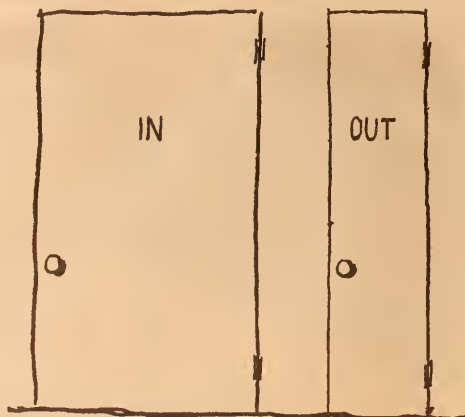

These men are to be congratulated for earning this new opportunity for public service. Welcome aboard!

Solution to PHS Traffic Jam.

To The Editor of TOWN TOPICS: I am a sophomore at Princeton High. My mother, along with several other women, has been complaining about the early morning and late afternoon traffic jam at the intersection of Franklin and Harrison Streets. A regular traffic light would be impractical, as this intersection is not congested during the majority of the day.

Here is my solution: About a year ago, Popular Science ran an article about "the traffic light" in Germany. These could be plugged in and removed at will.

I think this invention is just what Princeton needs. Does anyone agree with me?

Better Library Service Coming.
To The Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

At a special meeting of the Public Library Board, it was voted to express to you sincere thanks for your constructive support in the success of the Library Referendum at the polls Tuesday. We very greatly appreciate the aid of the Princeton press.

Your continued interest in the future of the Princeton Library is anticipated. In particular, with the enlargement of the board next January, as is now provided by law, in the public counts to be interested, we believe, in the challenge which we face.

It may be reported that the existing board of trustees looks forward to plans for improving the library service for both the Borough and the Township. We believe heartily in the new provisions for an "equitable and economical method of library support and maintenance."

The bus company has announced that no passengers will be transported between the Princeton Shopping Center and the Borough if their destination is within the Borough, and no passengers will be picked up at Bolmer's Corner (the junction of 206 and Route 518) and carried to any points between there and the intersection of Stockton and Elm.

to Piano Instruction. Sixty piano teachers from 18 states attended a three-day workshop last weekend at the New School for Music Study, 353 Nassau Street. The workshop was the first in a series of short courses which the school will offer to teachers who are unable to enroll for a full year's course.

Those who attended heard a recital of contemporary piano music by Doris Martin and Martha V. Jones, faculty members, and lectures by Frances Clark, director of the school, and David Kraehenbuehl, head of the theory and composition department. Teachers also observed piano students in class and attended seminar discussions.

BARTOK WILL BE PLAYED

By Duo-Pianists. When Vera Appleton and Michael Field appear Monday in the second of the Series II University Concerts, they will play the Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion by Bela Bartok. Albert Pollack and Ronald Gould, percussionists, will join Appleton and Field in this performance and Harold Aks will conduct.

This will be the first time that the Bartok work has been played in Princeton. The concert will be given at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre.

In addition to the Bartok, the program will include Schumann's Andante and Variations in B flat major, Opus 46, Schubert's Fantasia in F minor, Opus 163 and Stravinsky's Concerto per duo pianoforti.

Miss Appleton and Mr. Field met when they were students at the Juillard School and they made their debut in Town Hall in 1943 after each one had followed a successful solo career for several seasons. Unlike most male-female piano teams, Miss Appleton and Mr. Field are married, but not to each other.

UNIVERSITY GROUP TO PLAY Orchestra Plans Concert. Works by Frescobaldi, Nathaniel Burt and Beethoven will be performed by the Princeton University Orchestra when the group appears in its first concert of the season this Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, under the baton of Nicholas Harsanyi. The concert is open to the public without charge. Vincent Renie, member of the class of 1963 at Princeton, will be the soloist in the Beethoven Violin Concerto. A young musician who began his studies at the age of five, Mr. Renie appeared on radio station WQXR in 1958 as a winner in the "Musical Talent in Our Schools" program, and played the Wieniawski concerto the following year with the New Brunswick Symphony Orchestra. He is a pre-medical student at Princeton.

The University orchestra, a chamber group composed of undergraduates, faculty and townspersons, will also play Mr. Bart's "Jacobean Suite" and Frescobaldi's Toccata. The "Jacobean Suite" will be heard in premiere.

AMATEURS TO SING

"Dido and Aeneas" Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" will be sung this Sunday by the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs who will meet at 8 in the gymnasium at 555 Pine Street. The group will sing, with orchestra, under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp of the department of music.

Soloists will be Thelma Young and Eleanor Holly, sopranos; Rachael Armstrong, contralto and Mary Wolff, pianist. The Amateurs will be joined for this performance by several singers from the Dessoff Choir of New York, whose members sang this summer under Mr. Knapp's direction.

Amateur singers who wish to attend should notify Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, 12 South Middle Reunion Hall before this Friday. The office is open between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. and the number is WA 4-9453.

OLD MUSIC FOR NEW ERA

With Fats Domino. Rhythm and blues (also rock and roll) will come to Dillon Gym this Saturday at 8:30 with the appearance of Fats Domino, who brands his music as "the old Dixieland for the new era." A member of the New Orleans group, he began playing the piano at the age of ten in honky-tonks, and has gone on to sell over 33 million record albums.

With the advent of rock and roll, Fats revived the Dixieland beat and was featured in 20th Century Fox's "The Girl Can't Help It." He has been approached by the State Department's cultural exchange program about a possible trip to Russia. His reaction: "If these cats like to dance, they will dig my kind of live."

Fats writes most of the songs he sings, and makes more "live" appearances than his colleagues. Two of his compositions are "My Blue Heaven" and "Blueberry Hill." Tickets are available at the University Store or through PEB Attractions, Box 591, Princeton.

REOUNDING SUCCESS

For Princeton Symphony. If the Princeton Symphony Orchestra ever needed to justify its existence, it did so beyond all question Monday night in its 10th Anniversary Concert (a memorial to Charles R. Erdman.) Its function as a force in the musical life of the Princeton community was fulfilled in every respect, and the concert was a resounding musical and popular success.

Not only did the Symphonic Choir of Westminster Choir College fill McCarter Theatre with superb choral sound, but the soloists and the Princeton Symphony Orchestra itself turned in performances of truly astonishing quality. The orchestras produced an unprecedentedly responsive, sure and solid sound, which enabled Nicholas Harsanyi to conduct with exceptional freedom, flexibility and sensitivity.

The music chosen was just the sort which should be played at (a tribute to Dr. Erdman), Edward T. Cone joined the choir and the orchestra to perform one of the oddest works Beethoven ever composed, the "Fantasia for Piano, Chorus, and Orchestra, Opus 80."

It is a work which is partly experimental, partly trivial and mostly peculiar (in form, subject matter and treatment), but it was given so rousing a performance that it was well worth hearing. The credit for its success must be given primarily to the pianist. Mr. Cone's playing is familiar to Princeton audiences, but never has he played with more brilliance, dash, dynamic energy and control.

The second half of the program consisted of a first-rate performance of a great masterpiece: Beethoven's "Mass in C Major, Opus 86." This work is sometimes regarded as a precursor of the "Missa Solenne," but it is better to consider it a grand summation of Beethoven's middle period. It is a magnificent work, and it was given a glorious performance.

JAZZ PIANIST: Fats Domino will play Saturday night in Dillon Gym.

The Westminster Symphonic Choir produced an unbelievably rich but clear, powerful yet unforced sound (and it is to be hoped that the current stereo mania of the recording industry does not put an end to the superior "mixed" voice placement employed by this and some other fine choirs). The points of sensitive vocal inflection were too numerous to mention. The soloists were also of superior quality: the soprano and alto having a particularly smooth and silky quality, the bass and particularly the tenor singing with fine intensity and imagination.

The orchestra was simply remarkable — it was hard to believe that these sounds were coming from a "classical" symphony. The strings were confident, the winds in tune and sensitive throughout. Above all, the players consistently responded to the conductors' inflections, and at times (such as in the Sanctus) produced an orchestral sound of truly memorable quality.

This concert constituted a splendid opening for the Princeton Symphony's 10th season. In addition, it should be observed that in this concert and in its final concert last year, this orchestra has provided music of far greater intrinsic worth than was provided at the intervening concert by a professional orchestra, and has given first-rate performances as well. The Princeton musical community should note this with considerable pride and satisfaction.

MIXED BLESSING

As Little Orchestra Plays. The presentation of Handel's seldom-performed oratorio, "Judas Macabaeus" Saturday night sponsored by P.E.B. Attractions, proved to be a mixed blessing for Princeton concertgoers. On the one hand, it is a valuable enterprise to offer the opportunity to hear such works. On the other, this work — in spite of judicious cutting — contains many of Handel's most tedious passages, as well as some of his finest.

Only an interpretation of exceptional imagination — such as those of Scherchen, for example — can bring to life the more lagging sections of such a work. Thomas Schermer's performance (with the Little Orchestra Society and the Choral Art Society) failed to do so in the main, in spite of some fine moments.

The blame for this does not fall primarily on the conductor, however. It falls first of all upon the acoustical conditions of Dillon Gymnasium, and secondly upon the unbelievable slippage of most of the performing musicians involved (the former condition quite possibly influencing the latter).

Music In Princeton

An exception must immediately be noted: the chorus, with the exception of a weak alto section, proved itself to be superior in most respects. In such choruses as "Tune Your Harps" and "Ah! Wretched Israel," they performed very impressively, and provided the high points of the evening.

The soloists were of more uneven quality. In contrast to some fine singing by John McCollum (as Judas Maccabaeus) and Ara Gerstein's enthusiastically performed arias, were moments of inferior quality (not only in tonal production, but in rhythmic uncertainties — and in one case memory slips) on the part of the other soloists.

The most glaring drawback of the performance as a whole was the quality of instrumental playing. The violas, cellos and basses were quite frequently as much as a measure behind the beat, for example. Although the poor acoustics may be in part to blame, it did not seem that the musicians made any effort to overcome this handicap. In fact, this reviewer failed to see any instrumentalist looking at the conductor while playing, throughout the performance!

This sloppiness culminated in the final measures of the last chorus, where the two trumpets have a dramatic passage in parallel thirds; the second trumpet at first faltered, and then collapsed completely. Throughout the evening attacks were not precise, and a general atmosphere of uncoordination prevailed. From the Little Orchestra's reputation, one would have expected better than this.

With all these difficulties to cope with, it is no wonder that conductor Thomas Scherman was unable to hold the performance together. At some points — with for example, a soprano a beat ahead and the basses a beat behind — his job seemed to be more one of arbitration than interpretation!

In view of the nature of the concert, it seems a pity that Mr. Scherman did not make a greater effort to present the work in a manner more true to the performance practices of Handel's day. Today, harpsichords are generally available (certainly in Princeton), and it is inexcusable not only to have a piano accompany recitatives, but to have the pianist intrude in the tutti, where he would better have dropped out. While Russell Oberlin's appearance (cancelled because of illness) would have presented such oddities as a woman singing the part of an "Israelish Man," many more important stylistic niceties (e.g., double-dotting in such places as the overture and "I Feel the Deity Within") were omitted for no good reason.

There were, nonetheless some memorable moments in the course of the evening; the choruses were given a sensitive flexibility of tempo, and many of the charming (if somewhat naive) 18th century dramatic effects were effectively executed (including the literal stage entrance of Judas Maccabaeus during the chorus "See the Conquering Hero Come!"). All told, however, the drawbacks outnumbered the delights; this presentation was a well-intended effort which was not fully realized.

They are Miss Kathleen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. K. Baker of 82 Hartley Avenue, a graduate of Princeton High School; and Miss Eileen DeVido, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard DeVido of Brunswick Pike, a graduate of Academy of St. Elizabeth. Both are working toward the bachelor of arts degree.

Norman Van Arsdale, Province Line Road, director of physical education of the Princeton Township Schools, was elected president of the New Jersey Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the 42nd annual convention of the organization held in Atlantic City last Thursday and Friday.

John J. Collins, son of Mrs. J. Thomas Collins, 113 Linden Lane, has been admitted to the Washington, D.C. Bar Association. A cum laude graduate of Holy Cross College and Villanova Law School, Mr. Collins is associated with the firm of Weaver and Glasie, Washington.

TIGERS FACE CHOICE

Of Fine—or Mediocre Season. Its slim chance for a resounding upset of a great Yale football team having gone aslimmering, Princeton's football forces will end their season in Palmer Stadium Saturday with a big choice confronting them. Possessed of the ability to trim Dartmouth, they can translate that potential to victory and sole possession of second place in the Ivy League. That would mean a fine 7-2 record, with the runner-up spot in the standings achieved in the face of virtually unanimous predictions that fifth or sixth place would be the best they could do. The alternative is a more routine 6-3 record, a tie for second place with Dartmouth and another loss to an opponent that has shown considerable ability in mastering the Tigers after they have lost to Yale.

Only twice in the post-war era has Princeton been beaten by Yale and shown sufficient resiliency to trim the Indians. More often than not, Yale triumphs over the Orange and Black have been followed by Dartmouth victories.

Princeton bounced back in 1954 to wallop a sub-par Dartmouth team, 40 to 7, after having lost to Yale the previous week, 26-24. Three years later, the Elis topped the Tigers, 20-13, but Dick Coleman won the Ivy title the following week by trouncing the Indians in the snow, 34 to 13.

Dartmouth Always Dangerous. One coach in the Ivy League who never fails to get the most out of his material is Bob Blackman, now in his sixth year at Hanover. Best proof: Dartmouth is the only team in the eight-member circuit which has never finished out of first division.

Heavily nift by graduation losses, Dartmouth this fall rebuilt slowly. It won 10 to 0 to Palmer Stadium with a 5-3 record—victories over Penn, Brown, Columbia, Cornell and New Hampshire; losses to Harvard, Yale and Holy Cross.

Chief threats are halfbacks Al Rozzycki, the Indians standard running back, and Jack Kinderderfer, quarterback and passer. Center and captain Ken DeHaven and guard Henry Gerfen are among the top linemen; as usual, Princeton's forward wall will be outweighed, but not by as much as Yale's 12-pound advantage.

Blackman's picturesque V formation gives the Green unusual diversity in its ground game. With the fullback standing close to the line, and serving primarily in a blocking capacity, the Indians combine the power of the single wing and the deception of the T. They have not been a high-scoring outfit this year, never producing more than three touchdowns but—with the exception of a 29-0 loss to Yale—have been difficult to dent defensively.

THE GREAT GIVE-AWAY

Mistakes Beat Tigers. No one will ever know, of course, whether Princeton could have beaten Yale had it played a game free of glaring errors. On offense, the Tigers showed a clear-cut ability to gain along the ground, particularly around end, where Yale's personnel does not match its strong interior line.

They completed better than 50 percent of their passes (8 of 13) and they totalled 386 yards against an opponent that had yielded an average of only 206 in five previous Ivy games.

Sadly, they beat themselves, and thoroughly, with the end 43-22 result being largely achieved by the constant mistakes the Tigers made. Actually, these were so frequent and so glaring, that it is a tribute to the Princeton attack that it managed to keep the contest from developing into a complete nightmare.

Four times, Princeton lost the ball on fumbles. The first of these stopped a promising Princeton drive on the Yale 40, early in the second quarter when it was still anyone's ball game. The last three were followed directly by Yale touchdowns.

Three times (despite the lesson of the Harvard game) Yale receivers were allowed beyond the last man in the secondary—and each time the costly mistake meant a Yale score. As every tough football player knows, if the opposition has a long-armed passer, a receiver behind the

WE Congratulate

STAN BALDWIN
Princeton Tackler

Did Princeton's line outplay Yale's vaulted forwards Saturday, with the defeat attributable to backfield mistakes such as fumbles and an inadequate pass defense? It's a point open to debate, with the figures which show that the Tigers held their conquerors even in first downs and out-gained them in rushing yardage lending support to arguments favoring the Orange and Black.

A particularly bright performance was given by senior Stan Baldwin, whose personal opponent on many plays was Yale's Ben Balme. The latter, whose return after a year's ineligibility, is credited with making the Blue line one of the best in the East, outweighed Baldwin by a dozen pounds but, in the words of the Princeton coaching staff, "Baldwin took care of him."

Dick Colman singled out the 260 lb. Princetonian for "playing the best game in his three years on the varsity." Having done so in a contest that meant so much shows real ability under pressure.

Baldwin is one of the reasons why Princeton ripped off a six-game winning streak this fall after having been relegated in pre-season Ivy predictions to a second-division finish.

ish. The Tigers had more guard than tackle strength when they went to Blairstown, and Baldwin had won his letter for two years running as guard.

Converted to tackle, he learned the myriad new assignments quickly, and today, Colman says, is a better tackle than he was a guard. "His extreme mobility has been invaluable in the short-side tackle position," Colman reports.

A heavyweight wrestler in the winter, Baldwin is heading for a medical career when he graduates next June. Before that, he's hoping to help Princeton earn the runner-up spot in the Ivy standings with a victory over Dartmouth Saturday. For these who can take their eyes off the ball carrier, number 75 in Orange and Black will be well worth watching.

secondary means a routine TD, but eight games after the season had started, Princeton still had to be shown how costly it could be.

There were other glaring errors. Yale very nearly recovered the opening kickoff when Jack Sullivan neglected to fall on the ball on the two-yard line. If the Elis had scored that quickly, there's no telling how high their final total might have gone.

Twice in the second half, the Tigers had forced the Blue into punt formation. Once a needless offside penalty gave Yale a first down; next time, quarterback Tom Singleton broke out of a trap with a high center snap and ran 22 yards before he was finally brought down.

Princeton tackling was often short of the necessary ability to contain Yale runners when they were first stopped, but there is no doubt that quarterback Tom Singleton and fullback Bob Blanchard are the best ball carriers the Tigers will meet this season. The Elis as a whole were a very solid team, and are worthy of all the superlatives they have drawn in reaching the threshold of their first unbeaten season since 1929. It would have taken play so close to perfection as to be unrealistic to rave upset them; the pity was that Princeton's numerous errors kept the contest from being close well before the first half ended.

Safety Man Needed. The bruising Yale contest took its toll, and a number of key Princeton players may not be in top shape Saturday. These include both Sullivan and Ron Goldman.

The latter was carried off the field with a forehead cut that required seven stitches. He also suffered a concussion, and with both Greg Riley and Roger Hoyt out as safemen for the season, Goldman's ability to play will be of major importance.

Dartmouth can be counted on to pass frequently in the hopes of achieving a second straight victory over the Tigers. It was passing that won for the Green last fall, with the much-discussed penalty for interference called against Nise Ippolito giving the visitors the chance they needed to eke out a 12-7 triumph after trailing 7-6 late in the game.

Dartmouth's interior line may prove vulnerable to Princeton running, with the odds sure to feel plenty of pressure from tailbacks Hugh Scott and Jack Sul—Continued on Page 30

HILL CONQUERED

For Unbeaten Braves. Scoring three touchdowns and passing for three conversions, Frank Bunch led Lawrenceville's football team to its third straight undefeated season Saturday as the Larries rolled over Hill School,
36-6, at Posttown, Pa.
The victory was number 20 in an unbeaten string that began three years ago.

Bunch ran 40 and 18 yards for two scores and plunged over from the one-yard line for another.
Bill Bruei accounted for a fourth Lawrenceville touchdown on a one-yard plunge, and Joe Rochester threw to Bob Miller for another six-pointer on a play that covered 65 yards.

Bob Schaff was the only Hill player to score as he caught an eight-yard pass from Jim Stone-well in the Lawrenceville end zone. A 13-all tie with Peddie last month is the only game the Red and Black has failed to win since its streak began in 1968.

PHS ENDS SEASON

With One-Point Victory. By the slim margin of a point Princeton High School's football team ended its season with a creditable 4-2-1 record instead of a 500 stand-off.
This is virtually a carbon copy of last year's effort in which the Little Tigers, playing one more game, posted a 5-2-1 achievement.

After winning its first three outings, PHS had to wait until its final game of the season to capture number four. It did so Saturday afternoon when it edged Ewing High School, 7-6, on the Blue Devils' home field. As in its opening win over Peddie, the margin of victory for the Blue and White rode on the accurate, place-kicking toe of fullback
Howard Gould.

The first half was scoreless, with Princeton High having the better of it in the initial quarter and the home team having the edge in the second. Neither threatened to score. Princeton got as close as the 20 but the drive stalled on a recovered fumble and incomplete pass. The deepest Ewing was able to penetrate was the Little Tiger 34, and Miles Truesdell ended that thrust when he recovered Bob Terlecki's fumble.

In first downs in the first half,
Ewing had a 7-6 edge. The passing attack of both elevens was off: PHS completed two of five and had two intercepted. The Blue Devils were just as incompetent, connecting on three of nine attempts.

"Half Way There." The tempo of the game picked up considerably at the start of the second half. Co-captain Russ Perone, on a fine run, returned Ewing's kickoff to the PHS 49. In the Blue and White huddle, a player said,
"Come on, you guys, we're half way there all ready; let's get the other half."

In five plays, the other half was gotten. After Perone and Gil Fisher had moved the ball to the Ewing 36, Perone threw a strike over the middle to Charlie Pemberton. The barely fullback took it on the dead run, never broke stride, and threaded his way through the Ewing secondary to score standing up. Gould kicked the extra point to give Coach Joe Jingoli's team a 7-0 lead.

Ewing came right back. Good gains by Terlecki and a 15-yard personal foul carried the Blue Devils to PHS' 18-yard line. The drive failed when Perone recovered a Ewing fumble on the following play. Timely pass inter-later in the game thwarted two more Ewing drives.

its slim lead till the last 17 seconds of play. With less than a minute left, PHS, which had possession of the ball on its own 37, first and 10, saw its presumably-sure advantage suddenly vaporize. Before the horrified eyes of Jurgoli and his staff, a bad pass from center, sailed over Gould's head and was picked up by Ewing's Bob Howard who dashed down field to the 17 before being tackled.

Ewing then made capital of the turn of events by scoring on the next play on a pass from Joe Castelle to Al Gummel, who made a fine catch in the end zone even though surrounded by Little Tiger defenders. Ewing failed in its bid for a tie when Leroy Ellis was stopped short of the goal line trying to run over the seventh point.

HUN TO PLAY LAST GAME

At Home against Delbarton. The Hun football team, on the fence between a winning and losing season with a 3-3 record, will endeavor to finish on the winning side Friday afternoon when it plays its finale against Delbarton. Game time is 2:30 on the Edgewood field.

In past seasons, Delbarton has entered its contest against Hun top heavy with earlier victories and gone on to add the Red and Black to its list of victims. This year, however, the story has been different for the Morristown prep school eleven. Saturday, it defeated Perkiomen, an earlier victim of Hun, 28-13 for its second win this fall against five defeats.

"It isn't that Delbarton has come apart," said Hun coach Hawley Waterman. "They have just stepped up their competition this fall. In past years, they used to play just the smaller schools—in fact, we were probably the biggest they played—whereas this year they have taken bigger schools such as Peddie and Blair," the Hun mentor continued, adding, "they'll be tough, as always."

Just how successful Hun will be against Delbarton will depend to a large extent in how fast Hun's "wailing wounded" get back on their feet. Four of Hun's starting eleven, including both its half-backs, did not even dress for Saturday's tie game with George School. "If the boys are able to play, we should give Delbarton a tough fight," said Waterman. "We want to win because it's our last chance to end up with a winning season."

At Newtown Saturday, Hun was held to a 6-6 tie by George School. The home team, abetted by some Hun penalties and a fumble, scored first in the second period on a two-yard run by Norm Zeigler. Zeigler also ran the try for extra point to put his teammates in front, 8-0.

Hun Dominates Second Half. Hun came back in the third period to score its only TD and tie the game. With starting half-backs Gary Grover and Bob Kay out of action with injuries, Sandy Blain and Doug Kerr, their replacements, together with full-back Al Landis, moved the ball downfield in a series of short gains. Landis capped the drive with a four-yard scoring plunge up the middle. Landis then gave Hun a tie when he ran the PAT.

BASKETBALL PLANNED

At YMCA. The Princeton YMCA has announced the start of an informal men's basketball program. Participants will play twice each week from 8 to 10 p.m. — on Tuesdays at Princeton High School and on Thursdays at the Witherspoon Street School. Directed by Richard Holsington, the program will be open to all men over 18. Registration blanks and further information should be obtained at the YMCA office by this Thursday.

WILL HOLD CLINIC

For Basketball At YMCA. A basketball clinic and league games for sixth through eighth-grade members of the Princeton YMCA will be held from 6 to 7:30 beginning December 2. Charles A. Hurford, chairman of the Youth Committee, made the announcement.

The clinic will include all phases of instruction in basketball, and boys will be given an opportunity to register for league participation on December 9 and 16. The league will start January 6.

BOWLING NOTES

Para Leads by One Game. Para Lab Supply won three games last week to jump into first place by two points over Tiger Garage (38) in the Industrial League to highlight Princeton bowling action. Nassau Del remained third, three games off the pace, while Nassau Service (30) held fourth position. Nelson Glass increased its margin to three points over Decker's Dairy and Kase Kleeners, who had 35 points each, in the "A" League. Taking all three games from the second-place Sportsmen No. 1 (38), the "B" League leader, Walker Gordon, moved to a ten-point edge. Tied for second was Cicelli's.

Nassau Bootery (51) led Cranbury Bank by two and a half games in the Women's League, while Craft Dry Cleaners (43) and Amron Homes (42) held the third and fourth spots. Only one game separated first-place Princeton Motor Lodge (62) and Nassau Service in the Women's Industrial loop. In third place, four games behind, was Decker's Dairy. The Roses came up to tie the Totos at eight points each in the second week of action in the Mixed League. Three of the other four teams were tied at six points.

The women took top honors in the individual game department last week as Marilyn Sylvester rolled a 245 in the Women's Industrial League for a new high mark for the ladies this season. It broke her old total of 242. Other notable scores included Margaret Drummond, 198; Marilyn Lowe, 192; Helen Tamasi, 186; Betty Kleiber, 183; and Florence Ebbitt, 181, in the Industrial loop; and Louise Reickert, 208; Barbara Danser, 183; and Marilyn Lowe, 182 in the Women's League.

Tony Tamasal topped the "B" League with a 242, followed by Frank Deleso and Joe Baldino, 231 each; Harry Kahny, 213; and Bill Murphy, 212. Other high games included the first place, 220; a 602 series; Val Ranallo, 215; Pros Aeschbacher, 209; and Raph Kleiber, 200, in the Industrial loop; and Bill Kiefer, 226-210; Mike Corio, 212; Tony Nini, 208; Frank Sannino, 203; Neil Crane and Dave Wimp, 201 each; and Bob Sculerati, 200, in the "A" League.

EXPANSION URGED

For N. J. Turnpike, Plans for joint study with the State Highway Commissioner of ways to expand and improve the New Jersey Turnpike were announced recently in the annual report of the Turnpike Authority Commissioners.

Cling a continuing rise in traffic on the Turnpike, the Commissioners said that is was "patently clear" that the capacity of the Turnpike must be increased if we are to safely accommodate the traveling public through the coming decade." They said they had already spoken to the State Highway Commissioner regarding joint studies of financing and scheduling of expansion work.

A total of 46,199,339 vehicles travelled the Turnpike during 1959 an increase of 11 percent over 1958. Toll revenues were $33,377,927, a gain of 10.5 percent over the previous year.

Average trip on the Turnpike in 1959 was 29.1 miles, compared with 29.6 miles in 1958. The average toll per vehicle was 72.1 cents against 72.5 cents a year ago.

Lowest Fatality Rate. Fatality rate on the Turnpike last year was the lowest since its opening in 1951. There were 20 fatalities for a rate of 1.48 per 100 million miles, as compared to 30 fatalities, or a rate of 3.42 per 100 million miles, in 1958. The Commissioners attributed the drop in deaths to a combination of highway betterments, including additional median barriers, strict enforcement of regulations, a more experienced public, and "good fortune."

INSTRUCTOR NEEDED
For First-Aid classes. The West Windsor Township Civil Defense and Disaster Control is seeking an instructor in first-aid who will work with the council on a permanent basis. Applications may be made to Edwin Justice, Harris Road, Princeton Junction, SWINburne 9-0096.

In 1778 FRENCH and INDIAN TROUBLES endangered the COLONIES. PHILIP JOHNSON (later COLONEL JOHNSON) left PRINCETON COLLEGE and joined GENERAL SCHUYLER in the expedition of the NEW JERSEY BRIGADE against QUEBEC. Later in the WAR FOR FREEDOM, he was killed August 27, 1778, commanding the FIRST REGIMENT OF NEW JERSEY VOLUNTEERS at the BATTLE OF LARGO ISLAND. Force of habit can bring strange results. Through habit we often accept less than the best rather than try something new. Perhaps by habit you continue to buy the same GINGER ALE and CLUB SODA that you've used for years. You'd be surprised and delighted if you'd try KERNS PALE DRY GINGER ALE and KERNS SPARKLING CLUB SODA. You'd find that Kerns has in these two mixers beverages of superlative quality. KERNS CLUB SODA and KERNS GINGER ALE will hold their sparkling carbonation long after other mixers have gone flat. Try these two KERNS products. You'll like the clean taste of KERNS GINGER ALE; you'll like the mineral spring character of KERNS SPARKLING WATER. Ask your dealer for KERNS, by the case or by the bottle. You'll like the saving in price, too. Call WA 4-0836. 11-17-5f

Time is growing short and soon the little man with the heavy boots will come clambering down the chimney and sprinkle salt all over the living room. But we'll shrug our shoulders and say "Cheer!" . . . A toast to holiday time. Now too can make a man mighty thirsty . . . so this year let's leave him a sparkling bottle of KERNS GINGER ALE or KERNS CLUB SODA. And, if you've a mind to leave him something to warm him against the cold . . . set up a bottle of BUCANERO SCOTCH WHISKY.
Imported and bottled exclusively for KERNS. BUCANERO costs just a little bit more than most Scotch, but the quality of its flavor can't be beat. Santa will appreciate every drop either from the CERAMIC FLAGON or the GLASS DECANTER and he'll enjoy serving it to his special friends.

Entire English Village on the Delaware. This is the most unusual and wonderfully different property in Bucks County. The main house, built in 1770, has hand hewn beams, stone and leaded windows, six rooms, four fireplaces, and its own courtyard and garden. Through the iron gate you find the large attractive Gothic type studio. Beyond the studio is a British Herringbone brick cottage, a two-bedroom masonry cottage, and a separate garden house. Entire property on 2½ acres. Offered for only $45,000.
